More from Medicare. More from life.

HealthSpring's Partnership for Quality – Coming to Northwest Florida and Revolutionizing Healthcare!

As a Primary Care Physician, it is estimated that approximately 80% of your time is spent treating those patients with a chronic illness, which totals roughly 78% of all healthcare expenditures. To address this demand, HealthSpring's proactive approach (2004) resulted in their Partnership for Quality (P4Q) program similar to today's CMS Physician Quality Reporting Initiative (PQRI) initiated in 2006. Both programs are based on data reporting of quality measures for covered Medicare services. The purpose of HealthSpring's P4Q program is to provide a true partnership between the plan, provider, and the patient aimed to improve the health and quality of life of the patient. This goal is achieved through the focus on preventative measures in an effort to achieve better clinical outcomes. To assist you with this program, HealthSpring pays for quality vs quantity and will provide resources including an in-office nurse to focus on those measures needed to obtain success. Questions regarding the P4Q program can be directed to Carol Davis at 205.423.1128.
